The Office of the Secretary of State invites students in grades 4 and 5 to enter an art contest. The winning art will be featured in the 2010 Washington State Voters' Pamphlet. In honor of the centennial of women voting in Washington state, the theme for 2010 is "Women's Votes. Women's Voices."

One of the most important aspects of a healthy democracy is strong voter participation. Secretary of State Sam Reed, the chief elections official in Washington State, is personally committed to increasing voter participation, especially among young people. Secretary Reed hopes that by sponsoring kids' programs such as the art contest, young Washingtonians will learn to appreciate our democracy and choose to participate as voters when they turn 18.
